WORKPLACES
THAT WORK
FOR WOMEN

Overview

Catalyst is a global nonprofit working with some of the world's most powerful CEOs and leading companies to build workplaces that work for women. Founded in 1962, Catalyst helps organizations accelerate progress for women at work through pioneering research, providing practical tools and solutions to remove barriers and drive change. With over 800+ supporter organizations, Catalyst gives companies and CEOs the trusted advice and expertise they need to drive workplace talent transformations in complex, global businesses.

▾ Challenge 1

Employee engagement

In a virtual working world, how can we keep employees engaged (both with their day to day workflow, but also engaged with colleagues and their teams) when working from their homes?

▾ Challenge 2

Racism and anti-racism

How can we reduce the stigma around having difficult conversations around racism, and anti-racism?

▾ Challenge 3

Intersectionality

What role should intersectionality play when we think about policy development now and into the future?
